The Times has increased its mailing equipment and is striving earnestly to reach its patrons on time. Be prompt in advising us when you do not get your paper and we will act promptly.

LOOKING FOR SOLUTIONS.

The financial conference at Brussels is one of the events to which all Europe is directing serious attention.

Although the best financial intelligence in the world is meeting in the Belgian capital there is more or less frank skepticism as to the prospects of an outcome that will contribute promptly and substantially to the restoration of a staggering continent. Among the suggestions for a program that is promised to guarantee the rehabilitation of Europe are plans for the arbitrary reduction of the face value of inflated currency to bring it into harmony with gold value; an international clearing house for foreign trade; an international loan to stabilize exchange and reduce floating debts.

Unfortunately for the needs of several nations these suggestions are subject to several interpretations according to stressful necessities and quite inevitably these interpretations do not agree as to the forecasts of practical results are concerned.

The conflict of national interests is as much in play as during the war upon a different footing, but none the less insistent. German finances in other countries hinge sharply upon German operations and singularly the German delegates arrived at Brussels with a program of complete silence. They say they have nothing to offer—they expect only to listen, obviously a policy that does not fit into the spirit of the conference which is to do whatever possible for the rebuilding of Europe; even to the extent of modifying terms already under acceptance but unworked.

The international loan proposal is one which has already received attention and without finding favor in the United States, where the bulk of the money must come from to insure success. The outlook is not without prospects, but more than a minimum of optimism might be out of place.

TREND TOWARD SMALL TOWN.

An outstanding feature of the new census returns which are daily being announced is the remarkable growth of small cities and towns, particularly in the manufacturing centers of the East, in the last ten years. This undoubtedly indicates an industrial trend from the large cities to the smaller towns. New York's loss of population in the same period seems to bear out this contention.

Congestion in the big cities, with accompanying lack of housing facilities for workers, is causing more and more industries to seek locations in small town communities. That the small town provides more healthful and pleasant living conditions than the city is as much a factor in this trend as the fact that the industries are able to obtain room for expansion not to be had in the great industrial centers.

A. F. OF L. OPENS FIRE ON U. S. SENATORS

By MILDRED MORRIS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The American Federation of Labor is preparing to open its heaviest campaign fire, with five powerful U. S. senators as its target, it was announced today.

With Samuel Gompers, Secretary of the A. F. of L. and other officials on the stump, it will exert its strongest efforts from now on to accomplish the defeat of Senator Cummins of Iowa; Senator Wadsworth of New York; Senator Watson of Indiana; Senator Brandegee of Connecticut and Senator Moses of New Hampshire.

In its fight against Wadsworth, Brandegee and Moses, all famous as anti-suffragists, it is depending on the support of the women.

"Labor," official organ of the 16 associated railroad unions, in today's issue publishes the names of the congressmen and senators who voted for the Cummins-Each law and calls two million railroad workers to defeat them all.

The railroad unions have their own national campaign committee with former Congressman Edward Keating of Colorado, general manager of the Plumb plan league as chairman.

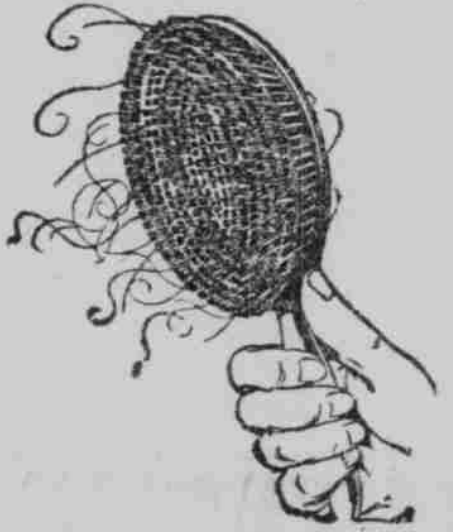

Heartened by the defeat of Congressman Each of Wisconsin, the railroad workers are redoubling their activities in Iowa against Senator Cummins. They are making their fight in all the states on one issue—the repeal of the Cummins-Each transportation law.

Both the American Federation of Labor and the railroad unions will open their active campaign in New York against Senator Wadsworth next week. Secretary Frank Morrison will begin the speaking campaign for the federation in Syracuse on Oct. 13.

Samuel Gompers will speak in Indianapolis, Oct. 25. His other speaking dates have not been decided upon.

The Gasoline Situation in 1910 and Now

IN 1910 there were approximately 400 thousand cars in the United States.

To operate these cars there was available a gasoline production of 750 million gallons, or, approximately, 1875 gallons per car.

In 1919 there were more than 7 million cars and trucks operating in the United States.

To supply these engines there was available, according to Bureau of Mines Report, 3 billion, 957 million gallons of gasoline, or, approximately, 565 gallons per car.

In neither case has consideration been given to the demand of tractors, stationary gas engines, or the gasoline required by the arts and industries. Nor have we considered the large volume of this product shipped abroad annually.

The above figures are presented so that you may visualize one of the problems the petroleum industry has been called upon to solve in the past decade.

In 1910 the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) marketed about 20 percent of the gasoline output of the United States, or approximately 156 million gallons. In 1919 this Company sold about 640 million gallons of gasoline, or about 17 percent of the total for that year.

It has been the task of the 7 men who manage the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for the 512 stockholders, not one of whom owns as much as 10 percent of the total, to expand the organization not only to keep pace with, but to keep ahead of the extraordinary and persistent demand for gasoline.

How well they have succeeded is illustrated clearly by the fact that in the 10-year period above mentioned, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has taken a leading part in increasing gasoline production 440 percent, while crude oil production increased only 94 percent.

The Common Fault With Most Cooks is to Use Too Much Shortening

ONE of the most embarrassing things for a housewife is to have her cake turn out "heavy"—or her pie crust "soggy." Not only unsatisfactory to the palate but the cause of many people saying: "Pies give me indigestion"—or "I can't eat pastry."

Yet this is a condition easily avoided.

Don't use too much shortening.

You use 1/3 to 1/4 less Mazola than you need of either butter or lard—with better results.

If it's pie, Mazola will make the finest, most delicate and easily digested crust you ever tasted.

Or if it's cake—both lightness and richness will result from using Mazola.

And being an oil it is always ready for instant use—no tiresome "creaming-in."

This is because Mazola is an absolutely pure vegetable fat from an edible source. It is 100% fat—contains no moisture as is contained in butter and lard.

Once you try Mazola you will prefer it to lard and other shortenings.
